

South Australian Medical Heritage Society Inc.

Membership Application Form

The South Australian Medical Heritage Society (SAMHS) is committed to the appreciation of South Australian medical history, identifying the contribution of individuals, recording medical artefacts of interest, and making medical heritage information readily available. The Society was established in 1983, and SAMHS currently has more than 70 registered members from a wide range of professions, all sharing an interest in Medical Heritage.

Meetings are held on the fourth Thursday of each month at 5.30pm in the Royal Society Rooms off Kintore Avenue Adelaide (see map on website). An invited speaker addresses each meeting on a topic of medical history interest. All meeting correspondence is circulated by email.

Guests and new members are always welcome.
